Foreword

Yet again, as in past years, there was an enthusiastic response from young and aspiring artists to the invitation to submit works for selection to the Artists in the Stream VII exhibition. Some fifty and more young artists from Harare and as far afield as Gweru, Mvuma, Chinhoyi and Masvingo, submitted works for selection of which seventy were accepted for exhibition by forty five artists in the categories of painting, graphics and mixed media sculptures and objects. The works convey search for identity and exploration of the media. The subject and content of the works are broadly based and are concerned mainly with the way of life where the human element is prominent. Exploration within the graphics - card print and monotype - was evident but the three dimensional work reflects an impressive creativity. It is evident that the zest and zeal still continues within the young artists, despite the depressing state of the economy, which gives me a sense of optimism. We are grateful to the European Union/Culture Fund Partnership for sponsorship which makes this exhibition possible and provides encouragement and stimulus to so many.
